THE COLPORTAGE PHENOMENON OF SPACE

The objects installed in Artspeak's window by Erica Stocking are of a temporal and cumulative nature, and provide the foundation for several levels of performing acts. Act I features objects found by Stocking as she rode empty-pocketed on her bicycle that form a personal narrative or map. Most, but not all, of the objects have been collected by the artist, same by people close to her, some moments of a perfect day: a shiny lock rendered that way through urban nature's own polishing (a gravel pile); a shell resembling a medieval prosthetic for an arm, of the objects have been collected by the artist, Stocking as she rode empty-pocketed on her bicycle and provide the foundation for several levels of perception and imagination by adding that the spiritual and moral dimension of light was much more "self-transformation." 4  Arthur Zajonc, Catching the Light; The Entwined History of Light and Mind (NY: Baruch Books, 1993): 201.

14 Robert Stein's life's work in Anthroposophy furthers Goethe's notion of perception and imagination by adding that the spiritual and moral dimension of light was much more vital at that time and needed to find an answer to the question, "How far is it possible to prove that in human thinking real spirit is the agent?" 4  Same, Castaneda believed; can see the luminous shells, the egg shaped light energy that surrounds an individual.
